You are most like The Shaper

Shapers visualize ambitious goals, set plans in place, and push through relentlessly to make them happen. They tend to be independent, original, driven, demanding, adaptable and at times impatient and single-minded.

Shapers visualize goals, set plans in place, and push through relentlessly to make them happen.

Typical Shapers dream big and unconventionally and have the determination and personal accountability to push through obstacles in their way. Their creativity and independent style drives them to the edge of rebelliousness and sometimes pushes them over it. They think that if they can clearly visualize a goal, they can achieve it; that is, it's within their complete control to succeed or fail. They're able to maintain conflicting thoughts simultaneously and evaluate them from different perspectives, navigating between the big picture and granular details. They're comfortable taking the lead and demanding high levels of performance from those who follow them.

Among other distinguishing characteristics is their ability to inspire people to get behind their vision. They relish having fierce debates with other equally strong-willed thinkers. They have no problem telling people what they really think, good, bad, and ugly. They make sure their vision perseveres over the doubts and opposition of others.

They are generally less interested in getting involved in people's feelings and emotions and may not go out of their way to help and support those people, but rather expect them to take care of their own needs. Their tenacious, uncompromising, and single-minded focus may lead to the neglect of some of their personal relationships. They can make sure that people don't react negatively to their unrelenting passion and drive for their vision by learning how to communicate and engage with people who are wired differently than them.

Shaper Talents

- Creating and achieving their vision and goals
- Developing mental maps of how things can and should be done
- Holding others accountable to high standards
- Shifting priorities and plans to accommodate changing demands
- Having big, lasting impact on the things that are important to them

Shaper Growth Needs

- Sensitivity to other people's feelings and needs
- Showing appreciation for other people's contributions
- Practicing patience and being in the present moment
- Giving space to others instead of micromanaging

How you respond in different situations:

Now that you've reviewed your detailed results, "You" in Context gives insight into how the combination of your attributes may play out in a variety of work and life situations

When interacting with others, you...

- ...Are outgoing, socially bold, and stand out in the crowd as unique and creative
- ...Tend to be more serious than humorous and lighthearted
- ...Speak your mind, even when it comes across as harsh
- ...May be less sensitive to and aware of the needs and feelings of others
- ...Tend to avoid getting deeply involved in other people's problems and issues

As a leader, you...

- ...Demand and hold others accountable for results
- ...Argue for your beliefs and say what you think
- ...Call out underperformers whenever justified
- ...Take initiative and instigate change
- ...Generally take direction and feedback from others well
- ...May be most effective when there are clear expectations for you and others
- ...Believe acknowledging your and other people's strengths and weaknesses is part of being a good leader
- ...May struggle to know when to follow rather than lead

When planning, you...

- ...Excel at adapting and preparing for the unexpected
- ...Make an effort to put backup plans in place in case things go wrong
- ...Track progress made toward completion, but don't over worry if things don't go exactly as planned
- ...Use determination to overcome obstacles
- ...Are not bothered by close oversight and direction
- ...May prefer straightforward strategies to highly complex ones

When solving problems, you...

- ...Like to draw on other people's thinking to stress test your own ideas
- ...Explore a wide range of possibilities before deciding
- ...Don't mind being directed to solutions rather than finding them on your own
- ...Are comfortable with both structured and emergent modes of problem solving
- ...Are fascinated when solutions aren't obvious
- ...Explore the unknown rationally
- ...Believe that the best outcomes are a result of combining imagination, logic, and rigor
- ...Balance exploring new possibilities with the need to take decisive action

When setting goals, you...

- ...Strive beyond what's possible, or seems achievable to others
- ...Prefer direction from others, but once established, are willing to take charge
- ...Are both goal-directed and flexible
- ...Face resistance and obstacles by adapting, improvising, and overcoming

On a team, you...

- ...Voice your thoughts directly
- ...Enjoy a good debate, win, lose, or draw
- ...Are actively involved with the team, but don't always perceive when others need support
- ...Prefer working in a group rather than going your own way
- ...Set high goals and push back on any attempts to lower the bar
- ...Do what's needed to achieve your goals, and expect others to do the same

Under stress, you...

- ...Remain calm, cool, and focused on what matters most
- ...Adapt to new experiences rather than avoid them
- ...Calmly turn mistakes into self-growth and learning rather than let them get you down
- ...Tend to be confident and resilient no matter how ambitiously you set your goals
- ...Tend to talk out your thinking and experiences

When learning, you...

- ...Generally prefer topics that are logical and objective over those that are intuitive and subjective
- ...Generally pay close attention to facts and data
- ...Like to hear other people's insights and knowledge as much as you like to share your own
- ...Love exploring new areas of interest you don't yet know about
- ...Love a good brainstorm
- ...Can engage in a mix of subjects, both practical and abstract
- ...Like to participate in the discussion
- ...Are interested in creative topics where your curiosity and originality can thrive
- ...Have good stamina and endurance
